

MY IDENTITY

By Jeffrey Vu

THE THINGS THAT IDENTIFY ME

Animals

- Animals identify me because of how interested I am in them, I am specifically interested in the dog, why? Because dogs are very smart creatures that understand you almost completely. My interest in animals started when I was very little when my father got my family many new fish. Now animals are something that I can definitely relate to.

Plants

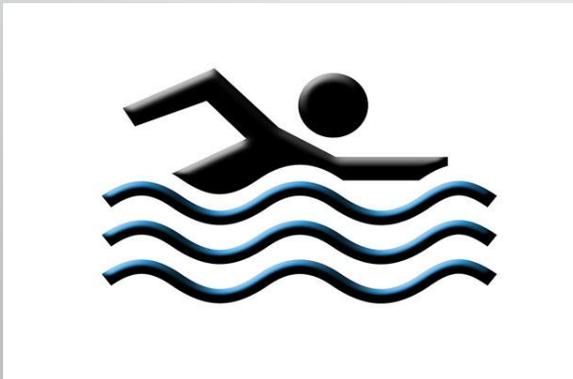

Plants identify me because of how many plants I have at home. I like plants because some plants are very unique such as the Venus flytrap or California pitcher plant. These plants are carnivorous and eat insects due to the lack of essential vitamins in their dirt.

My Hobbies

Swimming

Swimming is a hobby of mine ever since I was little, this is because I was interested in sea creatures and first took swimming as a little hobby but now I am in level seven of swimming and know a lot of new swimming techniques I never thought I would have learned.

Basketball

Basketball is a recent hobby that I took up a year ago because I wanted to be more fit, I was also very interested in basketball so of course my parents noticed and signed me up for lessons every Friday. I have been playing basketball for two years now and I am still playing it.

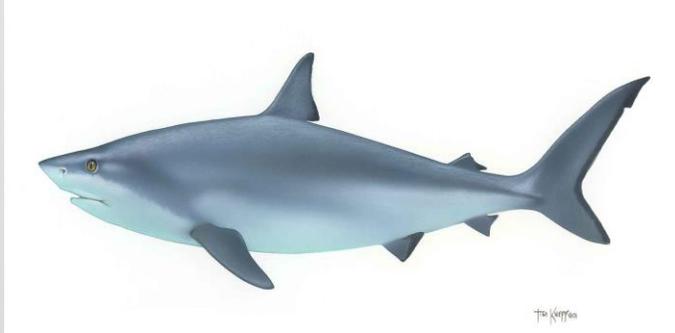

My favorite instrument

My favorite instrument is the piano. When I was very young my mother showed me how to play the piano. It sounded very nice and calm so I began playing the piano more! I still currently play the piano.

Other animals that stand out to me

There are four animals that stand out from all the other animals due to their interesting features. The first animal that stands out is the bull shark. The bull shark can swim in fresh water unlike other sharks. The Polar bear can swim in ice cold water. The cone snails venom varies from species to species from individuals to individuals and from even shot to shot of the venom. The Goliath Tiger fish has very sharp teeth that can even kill Crocodiles
